Lot # 4487 California, San Francisco California Dry Dock Co. Bond signed by J.C. Flood (Comstock Bonanza King)
1878 Very early #11. $1000 Gold Bond Issued to bearer in 1878. Signed by Oliver Eldridge, President, and W. C. Gibbs, Secretary. Vignette of a dry dock located along the shore of San Francisco Bay, top center under company name. Black border and print. Gilt seal. Uncancelled. Printed by E. Basqui, San Francisco, 15X22 inches, 20 coupons attached. Endorsed on reverse by J. C. Flood and William Alvord. James C. Flood was one of the great San Francisco entrepreneurs that successfully rolled into fortune. The owner of a saloon located right next to the San Francisco Stock Exchange, Flood along with his partner William O'Brien soon became fast friends with John Mackay and James G. Fair, great speculators on the Comstock Lode.

In 1868 Flood and O'Brien opened a stock brokerage firm and, when Mackay and Fair tried to take control of several key Comstock properties, the four soon became partners and went on to make millions. Flood continued his shrewd business deals. He took over the Nevada Bank of San Francisco, at one time the largest bank on the West Coast. He retired and turned over the control of the bank to an incompetent who broke the bank. (McDonald, Virginia city...1982, pp 120-134). Alvord was a key partner to Huntington, Hopkins, and Stanford as part of the Big Four. He was involved with most of the successful early railroads of California including the Placerville Railroad. He was at one time the president of the Bank of California. He started with a hardware store in Marysville in 1853 and moved it to San Francisco where it thrived. Alvord was a favorite in San Francisco, serving on many philanthropic boards and was also elected Mayor. (Bancroft, History of California, vol. 7). Both autographs are extremely rare and these are two of the most powerful men in California's nineteenth century history. Extremely fine. A rare signature of one the famous Bonanza Kings, James C. Flood. (HA #33; 9-20-04-317 P633) Est. $600 ~ $1,000 HWAC# 41370

Lot # 4493 Nevada, Virginia City

Antique Virginia City Masonic Trunk for a Comstock Miner (c.1890s) Wood & canvas trunk inscribed on the side for W.E. Owens, Virginia City, Nev. Masonic imagery (shield and sword). MC Pettibone Manufacturing Co Uniforms. 18" x 11" x 12" William E. Owens was born about 1848 in Wales and came to Virginia City with his brother Owen at some point in the 1870s. They are not listed in the 1868 or 1873 Virginia City directories. They worked as miners. William died October 4th, 1895 from a heart condition. His brother Owen had died the year before. Both are buried in the same plot in the Silver Terrace cemetery in Virginia City. According to Sacramento Daily Union (October 13, 1879), Owen Owens was injured in a mine accident at the Julia Mine: "By an unexpected lowering of the slide in the Julia mine today, on which a air-pipe was being taken into the mine, Abe Geary had his thigh badly crushed and John Peters and Owen Owens were thrown into the hot water and scalded about their legs. They will probably all recover." According to Sept. 9, 1885 Virginia Evening Chronicle, W.E. Owens was one of the Virginia & Truckee Railroad departures for that day (along with noted jeweler M.M. Fredrick). Perhaps he took this trunk on that journey! Masonic trunks like this would hold all of the regalia and fraternal uniform items. Trunk does show signs of use (scuffs, stains). A great Nevada piece! Est. $400 ~ $1,200 HWAC# 41255

Lot # 4498 Nevada, Virginia City Gold Wash, Silver Plate, Engraved Woman's Case / Purse from a Virginia City Jeweler c1878 Fabulous metal handbag for a very fancy woman to carry to very fancy occasions. Approx. 2" x 3" No markings on purse itself. Original box (2 x 3.5 x 5") has raised silk fitted interior and is trimmed in a delicate rose and white silk rope. Has red silk gold stamped ribbon on inside top of lid with, "W. Manning, Virginia, Nev." Mint & Unused! Advertisements for William Manning appear in Virginia City and Reno newspapers from 1877 to 1879. He is listed as a jeweler in Virginia City in the 1880 census. Manning is not listed in the 1871/72 Nevada Directory or the 1874/1875 V&T Directory. As early as 1882 he is listed in the San Francisco Directory as a jeweler. This puts him in Virginia City from about 1876 to 1881. Est. $500 ~ $1,000 HWAC# 42639

Lot # 4499 Nevada, Virginia City M.M. Fredrick Coin Silver Fork

(Famous Comstock Jeweler) c.1870s-1880s Rare. Coin silver fork with a "medallion" pattern (by Schultz & Fischer, San Francisco). Reverse is etched "Coin" and "M.M. Fredrick, Virg. Nev." Seven inches long. c.1870s-80s. The M. M. Fredrick business was truly one of the pioneer jewelry businesses in Nevada. It began as Eaves & Nye in Virginia City in late 1862 or early 1863. Est. $150 ~ $300 HWAC# 41253

Lot # 4500 Nevada, Virginia City Original Virginia City, Nevada Advertising Broadside (c.1870s) Very attractive original advertising broadside for the New York Bazaar, H. Cohn proprietor. 23.5" x 15" "Constantly on Hand the Best Assortment of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Ready-Made Suits & Cloaks..." Located opposite the Alhambra Theatre on Union Street. Printed on very thin paper; perhaps advertising wrapping paper used by the store? The 1867 Pacific Coast Directory lists an H. Cohn clothing business at 13 N. B. Street, as does the 1868-

69 Virginia City directory (which gives his name as Herman). This broadside probably dates to the late 1860s. The Cohn family had a large presence in Virginia City and Carson City (as noted in John P. Marschall's "Jews in Nevada: A History"). Herman Cohn emigrated from Prussia with his wife Lottie. He appears as a Placerville merchant in the 1860 census, but then relocated to the Comstock. According to the 1880 census, he died from stomach cancer in 1879 in Virginia City. His son Abe ran the well-known Emporium in Carson City which sold and promoted Dat-So-La-Lee baskets. Provenance: From the Parker Lyon Pony Express Museum, purchased at auction in 1976. Creases and some tears along the edges. Est. $500 ~ $1,500 HWAC# 41249

"Containing also a complete business directory, churches, school, societies, towns, officers, etc." Advertisements throughout – many pictorial. At the time of European encounter, this area was long settled by the historic Nauset tribe, who had a settlement known as Meeshawn. They spoke an Algonquian language and were affiliated with other Algonquian tribes of the language families along the East Coast. In 1692, a new Royal Charter combined the Plymouth and Massachusetts Bay colonies into the Province of Massachusetts Bay. "Cape Cod" was thus officially renamed the "Province Lands". On June 14, 1727, after harboring ships for more than a century, the Precinct of Cape Cod was incorporated as a township. Following the American Revolution, Provincetown grew rapidly as a fishing and whaling center. By the 1890s, Provincetown was booming, and began to develop a resident population of writers and artists, as well as a summer tourist industry. Today, it is a small coastal resort town with a year-round population of just under 3,000 and a summer population of as high as 60,000. Front and back cover connected, but becoming unhinged. Lot # 4583 United States, Illustrated Atlas of the United States and Adjacent Countries 1838 Illustrated Atlas of the United States and Adjacent Countries. T.G. Bradford. 1838. 14 x 17", 170pp. Beautifully hand colored engraved title page and maps by S. Stiles, Sherman & Smith, New York, others by G.W. Boynton. The Republic of Texas map is important in its own right, as a separate country. As an early map, it shows how undeveloped, and relatively unexplored west Texas was at the time.

The printing and distribution of this atlas in 1838 begs comment. America was in the throws of its first major economic crisis - a depression- caused in part by manipulation and failure of real estate backed bank currency. It also came at a time when there was significant westward expansion into areas not well known. The Appalachian "gold rush" of the 1828-1838 period had its mark on America, and on the engravers of these maps. Georgia, the center of the "rush" shows up on the map with notations of "gold" near Auraria and Dahlonega. The latter opened a US Branch Mint the year the atlas was published. Another significant part of the "rush" was in Rutherford County, North Carolina, and here, too, we see a note on mines. A Branch Mint opened in North Carolina that same year as well. Other notes of economic importance appear elsewhere, especially in areas rich in coal. Thus this Atlas has a strong, overwhelming current to it - the thought of HOPE - that America was going places, with unlimited potential.

Bradford's atlases are among the best and most important nineteenth century atlases. Bradford published an atlas in 1835, and immediately after this volume published a larger format in 20" length. He is credited with being one of the first to add lengthy descriptions of regional (state) geography with economic and political notes as well.

This copy is particularly nice, original in all respects, from the boards to the fly pages. Very little external wear. While there is minor water spotting/staining along the bottom edge front and back, there is no damage to the all-important plates. It contains the book plate of Nathan Appleton (1779-1861), an American textile industrialist, Congressman, and father in law to Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Appleton would have treasured this atlas, glancing at the maps for hours at a time thinking about the places he'd been and wanted to go. He was a frequent traveler, more so than others, because it was recommended for his wife, who suffered from tuberculosis. Est. $5,000 ~ $9,000 HWAC# 18001

Bidding

You can bid live at the sale, absentee by submitting bids by mail, email, fax or phone. You can also use an agent. We can recommend several. If you bid absentee in advance, please call to be sure we received your bids. There is a 24% Buyers Premium and insurance added to all bids and purchases. 3% discount for cash or check. Local sales tax will also be added unless you provide a current valid Nevada Resale Permit.

Phone Bidding

If you really want a lot, and can't attend the sale, sometimes the best way to ensure acquisition is to be on the phone with us during the sale. Please call our office in advance of the first day of the auction, and we can arrange a phone line at no extra charge. We call you a few minutes before the lots comes up, so be ready to bid.

Online Bidding Process

There are five live internet bidding platforms:

ICollector: this is the main platform and has no cost to you. It is accessible through our web site, FHWAC.com, or through ICollector (Holabird auctions). This platform allows you to watch and participate in the auction on a real time basis. Its like a Reality Show, only with you in it.

Invaluable: Invaluable owns three separate and distinct live auction platforms. When you are searching the web for things you like, these things might come up under any of the following three companies, allowing you to bid there. There is a separate fee attached that goes to the online company, generally about 5%.

These bidding platforms increase visibility by thousands of people:

Invaluable
AuctionZip
eBay (live)

AuctionMobility: This is the most modern Ipad and Iphone application available, and is simply fantastic.

You can register to bid with any of these services, or you can call our office and we can walk you through the process, it is really simple. 775-851-1859

You are responsible for inspecting each an item prior to purchase. We also welcome phone calls for detailed verbal descriptions. You may also request additional photos posted online.

Wildlife Taxidermy Mounts

This sale has more than 100 Wildlife Taxidermy mounts. These are wall mounted shoulder mounts, full body mounts, etc. Each of these lots has been reviewed by the US Federal Fish and Wildlife Service in Reno. A number of the lots are subject to the Endangered Species Act, and are so identified in each lot description. These lots can only be purchased by Nevada residents, and will require proof of residence at purchase. There are, and will be, no exceptions. A further agreement that the items will not be transported over Nevada State Lines must be executed at the time of purchase.

Consigning with Holabird Western Americana Collections

We've sold many fantastic collections over the years and we're always excited for more great material! Consign with us and enter into a lasting and beneficial partnership.

Why should you consign with Holabird Western Americana Collections?

We combine the elements of historically researched descriptions, professional photography, artfully designed catalogs, and a team of specialists to consistently produce record prices. Consign your items to the experts and let us help you realize the most for your collections.

What do you get when you consign with us?

Holabird Live: Live internet auctions put your material in front of a larger audience than ever before. Our internet presence has opened up the market to a whole new generation of bidding. Not only do we offer live online bidding at no additional charge, but we also offer phone bidding and have live agents readily available to secure bids on all platforms. Never before has bidding in one of our auctions been so easy.

Historically Researched Descriptions: Our team of research writers craft colorfully written historical descriptions that tell the stories behind the items we sell. Through these accurately written descriptions we paint a picture for the collector and create a need and desire for your items.

Professional Photography: Colorful, vibrant, high resolution photographs tell a story all their own. Our expert photographer will give your items the attention they need to make them look amazing both online and in print.

Cataloguing: Full color, high quality, artfully designed catalogs put your collections on the coffee tables of collectors worldwide. Our print catalogs are more than a just a catalogue of goods for sale, they've become historic reference works that our clients have come to know and love.

Marketing: We market extensively to advanced collectors through online advertising, national print advertising, trade shows, and direct proprietary marketing among other publicity. We're seasoned marketers so you can rest assured knowing your material will get the recognition it deserves.

Superior Customer Service: At Holabird's Western Americana Collections, we pride ourselves in offering a high level of customer service that you can count on. Our commitment to you is what sets us apart from the rest. You want someone you can trust, and we are by your side every step of the way.

The Process:

Appraisal & Inspection: We begin the process with an informal inspection of your item(s). We can do this in person or through photographs and descriptions, via email, fax, mail, or telephone. Once we have the opportunity to evaluate your items, we will then provide you with a professional opinion of value.

Submit your photographs & descriptions to:

Holabird's Western Americana Collections

Call us toll free 844-HWAC-RNO (4922-766) or send us a fax 775-851-1834.

Consignment: Once we've determined that your material is a good fit for us and one of our upcoming sales, we will discuss the perfect venue for your items and spend some time with you to go over reserves, estimates, and sellers commission. Our commission rates are highly competitive and all inclusive. We have no photo or cataloging fees, no insurance fees, and no other hidden charges or gimmicks.

Estimates & Value: We use decades of sound experience and judgment to assign estimates. We market extensively through national advertising and participation in trade shows, and we find that most items sell for premium prices. There are, however, unpredictable times when items sell for less than expected. This is usually balanced by items selling for premiums. We cannot predict market prices or conditions and, ultimately, our buyers set the prices.

Shipping & Transportation: There are many ways to get your material to us for processing. You can arrange to bring your material directly into our Reno office, we can arrange to pick up your collection, or you may ship your items to us.

Our knowledgeable and friendly staff will help guide you through this simple process so you can see your hard-earned collections meet the right hands for the right prices. Contact our office for more information or for a consultation. Here at Holabird's Western Americana Collections, we don't only achieve record-breaking sales prices—we create legends.
